About This Game

Vampires have got a bad rap. Like Count Dracula for instance. People think all he wants to do is suck their blood, but in truth, he wants the same things everyone else does: food, shelter, and love. He won't settle for just any woman, though, so when a man-hungry princess takes a liking to him against his wishes, he does the only thing a red-blooded (or an undead) male can do: run!

As Dracula flees across a richly drawn but ravaged fantasy world, he'll come across people who need help. Your job is to guide the famous vampire and his minions as they gather resources, restore villages, and fight off a legion of enemies. To complete each captivating quest, you'll need to not only manage your resources well but also work quickly, as the princess will never be far behind! Fortunately, the Count can acquire several items that can give him a boost, such a ring that allows him to be in the sun and magic shoes that enable him to work faster. He can also learn to make potions and craft new items!

This special collector's edition of Incredible Dracula includes a thrilling bonus chapter, a step-by-step walkthrough, a downloadable soundtrack, desktop wallpapers, and more!

With simple but enchanting gameplay, a vibrant and charming world to explore, and dozens of challenging levels to complete, Incredible Dracula: Chasing Love Collector's Edition will take a big bite out of boredom!

Moreover, this game includes Steam Trading cards and Achievements (34!)

for $2 pretty good. 10V10 VR Experience

Mind Blowing Stuff !. First and foremost, Even I am questioning the thumbs up I give this game, but let me explain, and at the same time review, this game as best I can and maybe you'll understand why.

The Idea of this game seems to be a Combination of Arma 2 or 3 Wasteland servers, and SOS.

Arma 2 or 3 Wasteland servers, are essentially Pubg without always being tied to a Match based game. Spawn randomly with or without squad mates, find a gun, kill some people, die, respawn shortly after, repeat.

SOS is a match based PvP/Pve Battle royale esq. style game for streamers (Both performing and watching). For those not familiar You get dropped on an island with 4 idols somewhere on it. You can choose to team up with others or go solo to find one, However in the end only the ones carrying an idol will leave.

This game seems to be a cheap combination of the 2. You can join an ongoing game and join in any open squad or empty squad or even remain outside of squads and play solo. Once your in it seems you find one of so many briefcases then literally just get off the island and leave, and once your far enough away you will have escaped and be victorious. Not sure if that means the rounds server ends, or if you just happen to get currency, or something like that (Havn't played too much yet). Now the controls are a bit sluggish but I've seen worse in a $10 game. The visuals are definitely nothing special to look at. The combat is ok, it works without question, whether I died or not, I knew what happened wasn't some sort of error of hit registration. Also servers don't seem to lag, +1 on that. But there doesn't seem to be a community for this game. You look for a game and find one with maybe 5 people total. I'm glad you can join an ongoing game or it would be hell waiting for one. It has some potential to grow into something better, but we'll see who sticks around to wait for it. Honestly this is day one (On steam), I'd save your money, at least for a bit, and wait for some improvements to come along, I'm enjoying it somewhat, but I'm hoping after a day or 2 on steam the population will pick up. Either way, just wait and watch. And if visual and control improvements are made, I'd give it a try, its fun when you do happen to find some sort of combat.. This is actually a lot of fun. Since the trailer doesn't really describe how the VR works, you are sorta hovering over the play field like where the camera would be. It's actually really cool since it looks like a bunch of figurines duking it out. The controls are minorly awkward, it might just be because these type of games should have a game controller rather than 2 separate controllers. I honestly didn't try it out for long before just using my steam controller instead. The GUI elements also sorta float hover around your character it works really well.

The game itself is pretty fun with unlocks and stuff. Plays like the trailer so just take a look at that.

This is honestly very worth the buy. It offers something different than the normal VR experience and is quite a lot of fun.

Pro:

- *Different than the normal wave shooters associated with VR.
- *Gameplay itself is fun w/o relying on just being a VR game
- *Variety of enemies
- *Sexy Anime Characters are well done, the theme and art are good.
- *Alternate armors you can unlock.
- *Runs really well.

Con:

- *The maps feel like they repeat, not sure if they do actually but they consist of Squares, paths, and the occasional lift.
- *Only 2 Heroines
- *Motion controls are kinda awkward as it's just a replacement gamepad.
- *Sorta a small game (but it's price right for the length)

Wishlist:

- *more Characters
- *Steam Workshop integration
- *more Customization.

The game is good enough that if there was DLC for more Characters I would buy right away or if there was a sequel I would too also buy at full price. This one showed me that Beat em up games should totally be ported to VR and I now I really want Senran Kagura in VR.. After what....six years now?....this is still one of my faves. I still come back and play it periodically. Never get tired of the skulking around you can do, then open up fire on a few baddies for a while....then go back to skulking. This and the expansion pack Crysis Warhead are just a kick.

Sort of like Call of Duty meets HL2, but with more hi-tech baddies and then some pretty mean aliens both big and small. Exceptionally weaponry at times as well.

It's engaging on a lot of levels. You get your action on for a while. You get to sneak up on enemies and eliminate them in fun and interesting ways. And it challenges you to find sneaky means of taking them out. Even cooler: there are dozens of ways of attacking, and you can go back when replaying and try various new things and methods.

Even better: it's as complex and slow-moving as you want, or you can force combat into a faster pace. Out-freaking-standing game

This game is very poorly optimised and runs at about 10fps on PC that runs much more graphically intense games like Rayman Legends flawlessly.. Worst game I have evr played. Glad the uninstall button works fine though.. This does take some time to get use to. Love it just because of its facecam overlay however that is Coming up in many recording softwares now. I reccommend this for starting out just becasue of the easy overlay webcam feature. Gives me nice fps while recording and i get no frame drops

I rate 8/8 m8 this software is gr8. Simple, yet brilliant idea.. Addicted. Haven't played a game in this genre in 15 years. Will buy part 3 if it comes out.. This game really filled me with the holiday spirit. The visuals are beautiful, and the gameplay is stunning. The levels are designed in such a way that you will never get bored. I would say that this is easily the best Christmas themed video-game to date. Not to spoil anything, but the ending is super fantastic. Overall a great game. Give it a shot, I'm sure you won't regret it.. I used to play this game on Xbox 360 back in the day and I was 1 achievement from getting 100% thus completing the game on the hardest difficulty was quite the challenge. After I completed the highest difficulty possible during the time I had to unlock an even harder achievement. Hell Mode I believe was what it was called. I tried to go through it which made it my 3rd time playing the game. I was doing well since I upgraded everything to the max however my biggest challenge for this new difficulty was the part on the plane where if the plane is destroyed you lose or if the eyeballs hit you too much you would lose. I never got to finish it but if I were to recommend playing I would say yes go for it if you like an old style game with an interesting story. You can choose what costumes Alicia wears although I haven't figured it out for PC yet. Lol. Anyway this was an amazing play and I hope anyone who wants to consider buying this finds my review helpful. :3. INCREDIBLE! And it's still Pre-Alpha! I have been dreaming of a game like this for years that I can create my own maps with penalties for climbing hills and bonuses for having hight. I LOVE THIS GAME! It is one of my all time favorites now and I am getting the game for my entire gaming clan. I just hope the number of players per map increased to something like 5 or 6.. I play a lot of puzzle games. This one is incredibly entertaining and challenging. A step UP from the previous Dreamals by a considerable degree, and the previous one was challenging at times as well, however repetitive.
